Additional Suggestions

Hire your disc jockey so that he/she is set-up and ready to go before your guests arrive, even if you are hiring musicians for cocktails/dinner. Remember that your disc jockey will be making preliminary announcements which may include bridal party introductions, toasts and other general information. Your DJ also serves as a "back-up" plan if your musicians show up late or take breaks.

ALWAYS finalize with your disc jockey no later than one week before your event. It is also important that your disc jockey knows how to pronounce important names.

Place the disc jockey in a location that is not obstructed. The DJ will usually be your emcee, which means he/she needs to have a clear view of you and your guests to do an efficient job. If you place them in a room away from your guests or in a corner with an obstructed view, it will make entertaining and coordinating your event difficult.

Seat older family or guests that may be sensitive about the sound furthest from the loudspeakers. Although a professional DJ will monitor the sound for reasonable noise levels, it is important that you know where the speakers will be placed since the volume will be louder as you get closer to the speakers.

It's The Music They'll Remember

All the planning is behind you. You've walked down the aisle, exchanged wedding vows, and now you are married. Congratulations!

It's time to celebrate and let someone else take care of things while you enjoy your reception.

People choose DJs for the music we can provide. Most weddings have a wide variety of people in attendance who range in age and musical tastes. Freeman Productions provides music that spans across all ages and tastes.

What To Expect

After your ceremony, and maybe a few more photographs, it's off to be greeted by family and friends at your reception.

If you choose, the DJ can announce your grand entrance and help you smoothly transition to the next event of your reception. For the next few hours it will be our job to lead the festivities and play the music you have chosen.

Hire A Professional

Freeman Productions has been in the entertainment business since 1980 providing music for weddings, receptions, private parties, corporations, radio, theatre, and nonprofit groups.

The ability to communicate with an audience clearly and tastefully is a talent. As Master of Ceremonies we keep your event running smoothly ...making introductions, announcements or, if you choose, leading "cruise ship" style games.

Hiring Freeman Productions means you can relax and enjoy the party knowing your guests are listening to a variety of music to suit all tastes...we have the right mix!

Girls Just Wanna Have Fun

We supply you with our Reception Guide and Bridal Dance Favorites lists to make planning easier. The Reception Guide informs the DJ of your musical preferences and keeps us on track with the order of events such as the bride and groom's first dance, the cake cutting, toasts, and the garter and bouquet toss. Bridal Dance Favorites gives you song suggestions for your special dances.

We use the information you provide to coordinate with your photographer so you get all the right pictures for your wedding album.

Our disc jockeys are set-up and ready to go before your guests arrive. Cocktail and dinner time may be the perfect time to work in those non-dance favorites or play music for your older guests that may leave early.

Dance The Night Away

After the bride and groom have their first dance, the bride will usually dance with her father, then the groom with his mother.

Now it's time to kick off the dance portion of your reception and get your guests up and dancing.

Celebration

Remember that your wedding day is a time to celebrate...so dance, enjoy yourself, and let a professional take care of the music and entertainment!

Sharp Dressed Man

All Freeman Production DJs wear a formal tuxedo unless otherwise requested.

Our equipment is of the highest professional quality: JBL, Mackie, Denon, Dbx, and Rane audio equipment along with Apple and Toshiba computers. We not only look good, we sound good too!

Lighting equipment may be requested to add a special atmosphere to any reception.

I'll Cover You

We are fully insured and would be happy to share our million dollar liability binder with you or the reception facility management.

Our music library is completely digital, played from one laptop with an additional laptop as backup. As an added measure, we bring your special songs on CD for triple protection.
